Re: Fogo de Chão Washington D.C.

Dear Joe,

Building a 14,500 square foot first class restaurant in Washington D.C. had the potential to be a complicated ordeal for an out-of-state company like us. Choosing Restaurant Consultants to be part of our team proved to be the smartest decision we made.

Your highly professional guidance and assistance during preconstruction, construction and final opening made our project run smoothly and successfully. Thanks to that we were able to stay within our schedule and open in record time.

I would recommend without hesitation anyone considering building in Washington D.C. to consult with your company. My best regards to all the Restaurant Consultants Inc. team.

Sincerely,

Fernando V. Barreto
